When you think of celebrity home makeovers, your mind probably goes to custom-made furniture, window treatments, wallpapers, and more that will cost you thousands of dollars. Well, think again. Candace Cameron Bure (you know her best as DJ Tanner from Full House and also Dancing with the Stars) shared her affordable and totally achievable makeover — something that we love!

Bure currently lives in a rental and was looking to revamp her space. "The house we've been living in is a rental and we've been in it much longer than we ever expected," she wrote on her website. "The challenge was to keep costs down and incorporate as much of my existing furniture as possible. The problem is that my furniture came from our grand Mediterranean-style house in Florida and I needed to find things that worked in this cozy Ranch-style house by the beach which is all about indoor-outdoor living." She and her interior designer, Natasha Jansz of Natasha Jansz Design were able to turn a bland, beige living room and dining room into a casual, fun, and stylish space with clean-lined furniture and colorful accents. Aside from a few splurges, Bure purchased many of her pieces from World Market, Target, Homegoods, Urban Outfitters, and Ikea.

Check out some before and after from the star's home below and see more of the makeover at Candace Cameron Bure's website:
